Indian Basmati Rice

Basmati is a variety of long, slender-grained aromatic rice which is traditionally grown in India, Nepal and Pakistan. The roots of the word "Basmati" are Sanskrit vas (aroma) and mayup (ingrained). In combination, mayup changes to mati, giving vasmati. Basmati has been spelled differently at times, and has been written as bans-matti, bansumutti, bansmatti, bansumutte, basmatte.

Basmati rice is believed to have been cultivated in the Indian subcontinent for centuries. India accounts for over 70% of the world's basmati rice production. A small portion of that is being grown organically. Basmati rice has a typical pandan-like (Pandanus amaryllifolius leaf) flavor caused by the aroma compound 2-acetyl-1-pyrroline.

India is the world's second-largest producer of rice, and the largest exporter of rice in the world. Indika Group welcomes you to explore the vast range of our rice with awesome taste, alluring aroma and delectable flavor.

Spices

البهارات

The word spice came from the Old French words espece, espis(c)e, and espis(c)e.

A spice is a seed, fruit, root, bark, or other plant substance primarily used for flavoring or coloring food. Spices are sometimes used in medicine, religious rituals, cosmetics, or perfume production. At various periods, many spices have been believed to have medicinal value. For example, Turmeric has been used in Asia for centuries and is a major part of Ayurveda, Siddha Medicine, traditional Chinese medicine, Unani, and the animistic rituals of Austronesian people.

India contributes to 75% of global spice production and is also the largest consumer and exporter of spices. This is reflected culturally through their cuisine; historically, the spice trade developed throughout the Indian subcontinent. In 2021-22, India exported 1.53 million tons of spices.

The most produced and exported spices are chilly, ginger, turmeric, coriander, cumin, fennel, fenugreek, nutmeg, garlic, etc.

We at Indika Group, are exporting high quality Whole and Ground Spices of different grades around the world in our 565 brand which is available in PP Bags, Paper Bags, Jute Bags, Tins, Cartons etc.

Pulses & Beans

البقول و الفول

Pulses are a subgroup of the legume family, but the term “pulse” refers only to the dried seed. Dried beans, lentils and peas are the most commonly known and consumed types of pulses. “Pulse” is a derivation from the Latin words puls or pultis meaning “thick soup”. Pulse crops are small but important members of the legume family, which contains over 1,800 different species. Pulse crops are the seeds of legumes that are used as food, and include peas, beans, lentils, chickpeas and faba beans.

India is the third largest exporter of Pulses in the world after Vietnam and China. Pulses are good sources of protein, fiber, and folate as well as calcium, iron, lysine, and vitamin C.

Pulses, also referred as Dal are eaten with rice, chapati and naan on the Indian subcontinent. Our product is hygienically packed so there is no nutritional loss during transportation. We export all varieties of pulses and beans in our own brand bags and as per the client requirements.

Coffee

القهوة

A coffee bean is a seed of the Coffea plant and the source for coffee. The word coffee entered the English language in 1582 via the Dutch koffie, borrowed from the ottoman Turkish kahve borrowed in turn from the Arabic qahwah. This Arabic root is also cognate with the Hebrew root k-h-h, which means "smoky" and "matte".

Coffee is darkly colored, bitter, slightly acidic and has a stimulating effect in humans, primarily due to its caffeine content. It is one of the most popular drinks in the world and can be prepared and presented in a variety of ways (e.g., espresso, French press, caffee latte, or already-brewed canned coffee). In India, coffee is traditionally grown in the Western Ghats spread over Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu.

We at Indika Group pack the two main varieties of coffee viz, Arabica and Robusta. Arabica is mild coffee, but the beans being more aromatic. On the other hand, Robusta has more strength and is, therefore, used in making various blends. Indika Group procures the finest coffee from the Coorg region which is grown under shade to ensure premium quality that delivers the right taste.
